Views of Didsbury Mayor

Analysis of County Act —Good and Bad Points

(From H. R. Times)

In the September issue of Western Municipal News, Mayor H. Lynch-Staunton of Didsbury gives an analysis of the Act presenting his view of the good features and objectionable features.

In introduction he states that an essential of a democratic government is strong local government. He divides responsibility into (a) real responsibility involving making of decisions; (b) financial responsibility in determining the way in which revenue will be secured and the collection of revenues; (c) administrative responsibility which must carry out policies.

Under the present system there are several bodies functioning in local government. There is the municipal council which must collect taxes including money to be spent by requisitioning bodies and must carry on such services as public works, policing public health relief and general welfare. There is also the school board which constructs, operates and maintains schools, determines costs and directs school policies. There is the Hospital and Health Unit boards, which construct, operate and maintain hospitals and provide health service, determine costs and direct policies.

The Councils have real responsibility in municipal affairs, but not in operation of schools, hospitals or health units. They have complete financial responsibility as they must collect revenue, not only for their own purpose but for other spending authorities. The school boards and hospital boards have little or no financial responsibility.

"Thus it is seen," says Mayor Lynch-Staunton, "that no group has complete responsibility in all respects."

The weakness of the present system as seen by the writer is then explained.

(1) The present system is based on the fallacy that education and health are of more importance in the community than functions carried on by councils such as public works, policing, fire protection and relief of various kinds. These bodies (education and health) are in effect given first mortgage on all moneys raised by the taxing body. After requisitions are met, the council must pare down estimates or raise mill rate. If a municipality wishes to borrow money by issuing debentures, a two-thirds majority vote must be obtained, while a school division may borrow without a vote unless a counter petition is presented.

"I submit that many council functions are as important as health and education. Van routes depend on good roads, so does movement to hospital. Health too, demands sanitation and garbage disposal. Where would we be without police protection? There is danger of community development becoming lopsided, owing to too much tax money diverted to some services at the expense of others."

(2) Administrative boards without financial responsibility reflect too greatly the character of individual members—from the non-progressive to the reckless spenders. The best balance wheel on any board is financial responsibility, and the ability of the taxpayer to pay should be measured before any program is mapped out, with money allotted in just proportions.

(3) Boards with no financial responsibility are subjected to too much pressure from outside groups, and are inclined to grant the request.

The County Act

The County Act was passed to correct some of the weaknesses in the present system.

Under the Act the council of the county will have complete government responsibility because (1) it will have real responsibility in major decisions affecting municipality, school board and hospital; (2) it will have complete financial responsibility for raising all moneys required; (3) it will have complete administrative responsibility because it must approve the policies of municipal, educational and hospital committees. It will be able to treat all social services as being on the same basis of value to the public, or in the alternative will be able to use tax moneys in the best interests of the people as a whole. It will be in position to determine first the ability of the taxpayer to pay.

Objectionable Features

Certain features of the bill as drafted appear to be objectionable. (1) Objection is taken to the provision that a vote is not taken till the plan has operated for four years, making reversion difficult. However, it will not be inaugurated in any area unless elected representatives ask for it. It would appear that if an area is willing to try the scheme no harm would be done, and possibly the scheme would prove good, with others following the example.

(2) The Act provides for committees to appoint other members to respective committees with power of elected members. This may make the machine too unwieldy and not directly responsible enough to the people. Appointed members may tend to become more permanent than elected members which is not democratic. I suggest instead of adding to committees in this way, experts in certain lines be employed as necessary but without voice in dictating policies. Road engineer, educational supervisor, business manager for hospitals are suggestions.

(3) The County Act provides that appointment to various committees be made from the elected council. But each committee must estimate its needs and submit them to the council as a whole for approval. When a candidate is elected to council he does not know what committee he may serve on. It does not follow that a man experienced in municipal matters would necessarily be a good school board or hospital board member. We have been used to supporting candidates for their qualification for these special offices. Under our present system if people disapprove of school, hospital or municipal members they can replace them. But under the County Act the only effective way would be to replace all members of the council because they have no assurance that an elected member will be on the committee needing reform. Thus good municipal timber may be turned out as a protest against educational committee or vice versa.

I would suggest that members of the three main committees be elected as members of these committees. The public can nominate to the municipal committee, the educational committee and the hospital committee, choosing persons well fitted.

Trap Shooting New Feature

Lions' Annual Turkey Shoot To Be Held December 1 and 2

Plans for the third annual turkey shoot sponsored by the Vulcan Lions Club have been completed and arrangements made to hold the biggest and best turkey shoot in Southern Alberta in Vulcan on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 1-2.

An added feature of this annual event will be the holding of dances both nights in conjunction with the turkey shoot and orchestras have now been booked for these dates.

For the first time, the shoot will be held in the new Vulcan Armouries, instead of the skating rink and the heated accommodation will make it possible to run bingo games and other forms of amusement.

Trap or skeet shooting will also be a new feature of the turkey shoot this year, in addition to the regular rifle shooting with skill and luck targets. With local hunters in good shape from gunning all fall, the trap shooting is expected to prove very popular.

Residents of Vulcan and district should plan now to attend the Lions turkey shoot. All proceeds will, as usual, be used for community work.

Propose To Check New Traffic Hazard

Action to curb the dangerous traffic menace of hurling empty bottles from motor cars is being taken by officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

Attention to this practice was drawn at a recent meeting of the Edmonton branch. It was contended that the practice constitutes a highway hazard and should be stamped out.

During the discussion, it was pointed out that the practice is a violation of the Motor Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act. It was felt that an educational campaign might have beneficial results.

Another suggestion was that motorists should take down the license number of a car from which empty bottles were being hurled to the highway so that required action could be taken later.

It also has been suggested to A.M.A. officials that markings of "skull and crossbones" should be placed on highways where fatal accidents have occurred. These would be painted as a warning to motorists to drive carefully.

CANADA MAIN SOURCE WHEAT AND GRAIN FOR THE PHILIPPINES

Canada moved into first position as the Philippines' principal source of supply for wheat and other grains during the first half of 1950, displacing the United States. Canada supplied grain valued at 156 million pesos, or 50.6 per cent of the total imported, as compared with 9.7 million pesos, or 31.4 per cent of the total for the

Locke-Manning Rites Solemnized

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the Vulcan United Church, Saturday, October 28th, when Rev. O. H. Rolis united in marriage Carol Noreen, daughter of Mrs. James Arnold, Vulcan, and William Locke, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Locke of Ontario.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Arnold, the bride was charmingly attired in a floor length gown of white lace and net. Her veil was held in place by a seed-pearl-headed coronet, and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Velma Arnold attended her sister as matron of honor and she chose for the occasion a floor-length gown of pale blue net with matching chapel veil. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

Mr. Robert Arnold was best man.

Guests were shown to the seats by ushers Leyland and Garry Arnold, brothers of the bride.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Lillian Lancaster sang "Because".

Following the ceremony a reception for immediate relatives and close friends was held in the Sunday School rooms of the church. Centering the bride's table was a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by bouquets of roses.

The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. Rolis and responded to by the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Locke will make their home in Rocky Mountain House.

The Weather

Winter weather put in a sudden appearance Tuesday night, as north winds brought light snow and lower temperatures. The mercury stayed about 10 above zero on Wednesday, with no relief from the cold wave in sight.

First half of 1949, a gain of 60.8 per cent. Imports from Canada consisted mainly of wheat flour and malt.

Mrs. C. Northcott, president, was in the chair. A. H. Collier is the new vice-president, while James Shortt was elected secretary-treasurer at the November meeting.

A letter from the Foothills District Council advised that the annual meeting of the Council will be held in High River, Nov. 20th, at 8 p.m. in the Scout hall. All interested in Scouting are invited to attend.

Art Groves reported a successful Apple Day, held recently by the Cubs.

Scout and Cub Master reports of their activities were heard.

Time of future meetings of the Group Committee was set for the first Wednesday of each month, at 7:30 p.m.

Meeting Hears Miss Sybil Bennett

Thursday evening, Nov. 2, a meeting of the Women's Progressive-Conservative Association was held in the Imperial Hotel dining room, with Miss Sybil Bennett, K. C., of Georgetown, Ont., as guest of honor.

After dinner, Miss Bennett addressed the meeting, giving a most interesting talk on her visit to the west and on the aims of the Women's Association of the Progressive-Conservative Party.

Other guests who spoke briefly were Miss Hilda Hesson of Winnipeg, Mrs. Beddingfield of High River and Mrs. Robinson of Calgary, president of the Alberta division of the Association.

The speakers were introduced by Mayor W. D. Allan.

Protein Content vs. Protein Strength

(By H. G. L. Strange)

There seems to be a good deal of dissatisfaction with the present system of grading wheat. Some farm organizations are demanding that wheat should be graded at country elevators on a protein basis. Evidence produced by the Board of Grain Commissioners' Grain Laboratory shows clearly, however, that even if this could be done, it would in a year, like this ruin Canada's reputation for high quality wheat on world markets, for the reason that the amount of protein in the wheat has been very little damaged by the frost but that the quality or "strength" of the protein—entirely different from the amount of protein—has been most seriously harmed. It is shown that a No. 2 Northern produces a large light loaf with a creamy bright crumb and has a high yield of flour, and that a No. 3 wheat, with practically the same protein as a No. 2 Nor., produces a heavy small loaf with the color of the crumb dark brown and yellowish and has a low yield of flour. It is milling and baking values or "strength" and not protein alone, for which millers, both domestic and overseas, buy Canadian wheat. Loaves baked from the different grades show clearly that grades, as at present established, are to a high degree in relationship to the final milling and baking values of the wheat.

Underground Distribution System

Ratepayers Vote Nov. 24 On Propane Gas By-law

On Friday, Nov. 24, ratepayers of the Town of Vulcan will vote for or against the adoption by the Town of a franchise agreement with the Mid-Way Propane Co., whereby the company would be given a ten-year franchise for the supplying of propane or other gas to consumers of the town.

By-law No. 252, relating to the propane gas franchise, has been passed provisionally by the town council and requires the approval of a two-thirds majority of the proprietary electors. Voting will take place between the hours of 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Nov. 24, with J. Lundy Findlay as Returning Officer.

If approved by the ratepayers, the ten-year franchise gives Mid-Way Propane Co. permission to construct a distribution system for the bulk distribution of propane gas within the limits of the town.

Plans call for an underground distribution system, with bulk storage near the C.P.R. tracks, and all phases of the scheme are subject to the approval of the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners. The propane gas is to be of 2500 B.T.U. content per cubic foot and to be odorized.

According to the synopsis of the franchise agreement (published on page 2 of this issue), the distribution system can be used for the transmission of natural gas if and when it becomes available, with the rates to be fixed by the Public Utilities Commissioners.

Rates as outlined in the agreement (for propane gas) are: First 200 c.f. $3.00, next 300 c.f., $1.20, all over 500 c.f., $3.50 per m.c.f., with special rates for quantity consumers. Deposits would be $15.00 for domestic users and $25.00 for commercial. Meters and regulators would be supplied at the expense of the company.

Five percent of the annual gross revenue of the company would be paid to the Town in taxes, and all costs of installation of system up to property lines of consumers and including cost of repair and maintenance of lines and streets used would be borne by Mid-Way Propane.

The New School

The new four room and basement addition to the Vulcan School is now in use. The fan-fare and speeches that accompany an official opening will come later, but the main thing right now is that the students are housed in modern, comfortable classrooms and that the old wooden high school, part of which was still in use until completion of the new school, is now empty.

The old wooden school has housed Vulcan students since 1911. Drafty and well nigh impossible to heat in the winter, it should have been replaced years ago but the public's well known reluctance to spend money on educational facilities combined with the curtailed building of the war years resulted in its continued use. But for the fact that the Vulcan schools were included in the Foothills School Division the old building might still be in use today. At the time of the inclusion of the Vulcan schools, the board of the trustees of the Foothills Division stated that it was their intention to have a new school built at Vulcan, and they have carried out that intention to an even greater degree than first planned.

Shop and Home Economic classes, also added since Vulcan joined the large division, will now be carried on in the two-room cottage school, a structure well suited to these classes. The old wooden school of three rooms is being advertised for sale and removal, and none will be sorry to see it go.

A Paper Battle

The world has been enjoying the newspaper and magazine "Battle of the Tanks", as between Russia and the United States. No specific figures can be accepted from either side. Maybe Russia has 40,000 tanks, and maybe she hasn't. American soldiers learned to their sorrow that Russia had some mighty fine firing power to distribute among her satellites. If the pride of the Yankees has been cut deeply enough, as a result of the incident there is no need to worry. It might easily be, like in previous wars, that 40,000 tanks built before 1950 would be little better than obsolete in 1951. We are told that Britain had thousands of tanks at D-day that were useless on the field of battle. She loaded hundreds of them on big scows and used them as auxiliary artillery to lay down shore barrages when the landings were being made on the Normandy coast. Britain led the world in aircraft engineering then and admittedly is doing it again in the matter of jet propulsion at the present time. Britain's destroyer and escort services were the best in the war, while United States excelled in her heavy battle wagons and aircraft carriers. No one power seemed to have everything supreme. Russia had her artillery and rockets, and Germany her 88s... and all but got away with her flying missiles. —Camrose Canadian.

Eastern Arctic Patrol

Sailing in the Transport Department vessel "C. D. Howe", the Eastern Arctic Patrol have just completed a 10,000 mile expedition to the Canadian North.

This was the 28th expedition of the Eastern Arctic Patrol, now a combined effort of six government departments pooling equipment and such northern services as administration, medical, postal, hydrographic survey and welfare aids. The officer in charge of the Patrol was Alex Stevenson, (Verdun, P.Q.) Arctic Division, Department of Resources and Development. He was assisted by G. Johnston (Ottawa) of the same department.

Members of the expedition visited fifteen settlements. The Patrol handled a huge volume of mail, started the 1951 census rolling in the Arctic and sailed as far as Dundas Harbour, 2,500 miles north of Ottawa. The Patrol sailed from Montreal July 17 and returned to base September 25.

Many passengers were picked up or dropped along the way, among them the Right Reverend L. B. Marsh, Bishop of the Arctic, Oblate Missionaries, Hudson's Bay Company officials and Eskimos moving from camp to camp. At River Clyde fifteen members of the Arctic Institute Expedition were taken on board. This party had spent the spring and summer of this year on a Baffin Island glacier collecting scientific data.

The success of the patrol this year was darkened by the loss of one of its members, the interpreter, S. G. Ford of St. John's Newfoundland. Mr. Ford lost his life in the crash of a helicopter, part of the equipment aboard the "C. D. Howe". He was a valued member of the Arctic Division, a popular figure throughout the northern lands and a thoroughly accomplished Eskimo linguist. His loss has been keenly felt by many Canadians.

When the Patrol visits a settlement in the Arctic, Eskimos congregate from miles around.

At each port the doctor, J. E. Osborne (Edmonton), s.m.o. on the Patrol, examined the Eskimos. Dr. R. S. Robertson, a Cobourg, Ont. dentist, was kept busy checking, extracting and filling teeth for Canada's northern citizens, whites and Eskimos. This year, with modern equipment, more than a thousand Eskimos were checked by X-ray. The general standard of health was good and there was a remarkable improvement in the children. This was felt to be the effect of nutritious foods given in payment of family allowances which are intended to supplement not supplant, the regular Eskimo diet of flesh, fowl and fish.

Members of the Patrol, this season, organized plans for the task of taking the 1951 census in the Arctic. This will be carried out under the immediate direction of the R.C.M.P. and must be completed by ship time next summer. Meanwhile, R.C.M.P. constables throughout the north are busy pondering one of the toughest census assignments of the lot; that of tabulating some 9,000 nomadic Eskimos scattered over thousands of square miles in the Arctic.

Members of the party declared that the polar weather had been wonderful: "Sunny skies, light winds and calm seas were the order of the day." They were amazed to learn that Southern Canada had experienced such a cold summer.

Infectious Keratitis "Pinkeye" in Cattle

The following information has recently been received from the Dominion Range Experimental Station at Manlyberries, Alberta.

Keratitis more commonly known as pinkeye is an infectious disease which attacks the eyes of cattle and sheep. Few animals die from the disease but the loss in milk and beef production is tremendous.

The organism causing the disease is as yet unknown. Although sheep and cattle show the same symptoms, it is thought that different organisms are involved.

There are three forms of the disease known, mild, acute and chronic.

The mild infection tends to disappear in a few days, if the animal is isolated in a dark stable free from dust and flies.

The acute infection is the most common type found in cattle herds. It usually appears suddenly and progresses rapidly. If the animal is isolated as in the mild infection the disease usually runs its course in about two weeks. Once the recovery is made, the infected eyes seem to be immune to further attack.

The chronic form is similar to the acute except that the chronic

Have Seed Grain Cleaned Now

When harvest is over farmers can take time to make plans for next year's crop. One important consideration is the seed that will be used. With frost damage in many areas this year, it is more important than usual that provision be made as soon as possible for clean seed that will grow.

J. E. Birdsall, Supervisor of Crop Improvement, reminds us that every year facilities for cleaning seed grain are taxed to capacity in March, April and May. Portable units, the new large central cleaning plants, and all other cleaning facilities find it difficult or impossible to cope with the demand for cleaning at that time of year. As a result many farmers use seed that is not cleaned or is not well cleaned. If seed cleaning could be distributed throughout the period from October to April or May many benefits would result. Operators would be able to give more attention to individual lots, and bad roads at any period would not be so serious a matter. The total quantity cleaned would be greatly increased, thereby lowering the cost per bushel for cleaning, and the quantity of weedy seed used would be reduced.

Get your seed cleaned or buy the seed you are going to need now, urges Mr. Birdsall. It will save you worry and expense next spring. It may mean some rearrangement of granary space but it will be worth the effort. Farmers in districts where large central cleaning plants are established should be especially interested in doing this, and in getting their neighbours to do likewise. They will benefit as individuals and as shareholders in their cleaning plant. If cleaning can be more uniformly distributed throughout the fall and winter months thousands of bushels of better seed will be planted next spring.

ic form involves more extensive changes to the eye. Chronic infection probably would not occur. If mild and acute infection were treated promptly.

Symptoms of the disease include, increased eye secretion, which cause tears to flow continually; sensitiveness to light; general discomfort; loss of interest in grazing; a pink to white discoloration of the eyeball, with partial or complete blindness; and the ease with which the infection spreads through the herd if infected animals are not isolated. Most cases occur in the summer or early fall.

Prompt isolation of the affected animal will often prevent the infection from spreading through the herd. Placing the animal in a dark stable, free from flies and dust, is often more effective than drugs in curing the animal. With range cattle isolation is impractical and medicinal treatment must be resorted to. Sulfathiazole powder is very effective and an emulsion of Sulfamethazine is often used.

Chimneys and Pipes Need Winterizing

Chimneys and pipes are often the neglected parts of a home, says C. A. Cheshire, Extension Agricultural Engineer, Alberta Department of Agriculture. As long as they appear from the outside to be in order, they are forgotten. The result is a good deal of inconvenience and inefficiency at least once a year. A convenient way to do this is to put a couple of bricks in a heavy burlap bag and attach a rope. The inside of the chimney can then be thoroughly scrubbed by pulling the bag up and down the flue a few times. The soot and tar dislodged during the operation should be removed from the bottom of the flue.

Pipes, both from furnaces and stoves should be cleaned. This is best done by removing the pipes and tapping the accumulation loose. The pipes should also be inspected at this time for soundness. The residue and water vapour that collect in these pipes attack the metal, and what may from the outside appear to be a sound length is just a mere shell. It is generally much cheaper to replace corroded pipes than to take a chance with them in the winter.

Mr. Cheshire suggests that while you are doing this job, you check how far the pipes are inserted into the chimney. The pipe should not extend past the inner surface of the brick or tile, and it should be sealed to the masonry with fireclay or fire proof cement.

One more point is that all wood or other inflammable material should be at least six inches from a chimney. If these few precautions are taken, we can help keep fires where we want them. DON'T TAKE A CHANCE: In spite of continued warning, too many accidents still occur as a result of carbon monoxide poisoning. Warming up cars or trucks or tractors inside a closed building, or opening the door too little to allow sufficient air circulation is asking for trouble. A periodic check of exhaust pipe and muffler is advisable. From leaks in the exhaust pipe or muffler, gases may escape into the cab or truck or body of a car with drastic results. This condition is most dangerous when the vehicle is standing still with the engine running.

Vancouver Trade Board officials favor a southern natural gas pipeline route from Alberta to the Coast. Easier terrain through the U.S. would mean lower building and maintenance costs, cheaper gas for Vancouver citizens.

Lions Ladies Night

The Champion Lions Club held their annual ladies night with a banquet and entertaining evening, Tuesday, Oct. 31. The community hall had a festive air with decorations of Halloween streamers in orange and black and motifs in profusion. The long tables were arranged with the same color scheme. A sumptuous banquet was catered by Mrs. A. Lawson of the Savoy Hotel coffee shop. The president, Les Christensen, was toastmaster. Reverend Peter Dawson was guest speaker of the evening and spoke on "The County Act" which was well received. Mrs. Jesse Matlock and Lloyd Schumacher entertained with two pleasing duets, "Simple Melody" and "Harvest Moon." An amusing contest that caused much merriment was to find the "Noisiest" couple. Four ladies and four lions were paired off to form couples: Mrs. Glen Racher and Larry Hagg; Mrs. Les Christensen and Mr. Dawson; Mrs. Jesse Matlock and Walter Griffin; Mrs. Rod Macleod and Glen Racher. Noses were measured to find the couple with the longest and shortest noses. Winners were Mrs. Christensen and Mr. Dawson, first; Mrs. Matlock and Mr. Griffin, second. Prizes were huge polka dot work-mens hankies to the winners and single sheets of Kleenex to the losers.

The Needle and Thread contest, participated in by Mrs. Jimmy Anderson and Theodore Holm; Mrs. J. Matlock and Bud Siler, was really funny. The men were to thread the needles with one eye closed and held closed by the fingers of their partner (said fingers were covered with Spot) naturally, the two Lions wound up with very decidedly black eyes. The winners, Mrs. Matlock and Mr. Siler, were presented with (what appeared to be) a beautifully decorated cake, only to find it to be a well disguised block of wood. A well attended and enjoyable dance followed to round out a very pleasant evening.

Amity Club

Members of the Amity Club assembled at Blusson School last Friday afternoon. Mrs. S. Cowgill presided over a brief business meeting which was followed by a cleaning bee. The school was gone over thoroughly to make ready for the series of card parties and other entertainments that is planned for the winter. The first party of the season has been set for Friday, Nov. 24th.

Mrs. W. Schmeelke and Miss

Margaret Carlson served a tasty lunch to the willing workers.

Glen Long who has been employed by the Greyhound bus line in Lethbridge for some time, returned to his home here last week. Glen was home only a very short time when he decided to run the tractor into a shed and in cranking the tractor he had the misfortune to break his right wrist.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fritzler spent Saturday in Lethbridge. Of interest here is the news received that a baby son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harper, Nov. 1, at Spokane, Wash. The proud father is a son of just as proud grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harper.

About seventeen members of the Women's Association of the Champion United Church assembled at the home of Mrs. P. Dawson, Friday afternoon, to honor a valued member, Mrs. A. Chaproniere, prior to her leaving the community to take up residence in Calgary. A social afternoon was enjoyed. On behalf of the members, Mrs. Duane Chamberlain presented the faithful member with a beautiful black suede handbag as a memento. Mrs. Chaproniere expressed her sincere appreciation. A delightful lunch, served by several of the ladies, brought the gathering to a close.

Her many friends will be sorry to learn that Mrs. Walter

Smith is a patient in the Vulcan hospital with rheumatic fever.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Sisson and granddaughter Gerry were visiting to Lethbridge last week, during their stay they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Blackford.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Sailer were recent visitors to the Duke of Windsor's ranch at High River.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Bjornson and children, Helen and Roy, spent a few days holidaying in Great Falls, Montana.

Any damage done to town or district property Halloween night was done by the older boys and men, who should know better, the smaller children had a grand time just collecting the usual treats, some adults too, exceedingly well disguised, had the time of their lives parading around town.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Matlock and small daughter, Kathy, and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Granlin and daughter Miss Elaine were among the guests attending the Gerald Matlock-Alice Finlayson wedding in Calgary, Saturday, Oct. 28. A full account of the wedding will appear in the news when all details are obtained.

Ken Bjornson was a recent visitor to Medicine Hat where he flew his plane for repairs following damage done by a recent wind storm.

Guy Volsey returned to his home, Saturday, after being a patient in the Vulcan hospital for a few days with a severe cold.

The Rhodes brothers are installing a 15 ton Fairbanks-Morris scale at their coal mine east of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Caldwell are the happy parents of a 7 pound 10 oz. baby son born Saturday, Nov. 4 in the Vulcan hospital. Congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Black and baby son, Garry Lee, left Friday for their home in Van Nuys, California, after spending the past seven months here.

We will be pleased to receive "Favorite Recipes" from all former residents of Champion and district who are living elsewhere at present as well as present residents, all are welcome to contribute. Please send them to Mrs. H. E. Smith. Thank you.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Towers of Calgary were guests at the home of the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Reverend and Mrs. Peter Dawson, for two days.

Mrs. Les Marshman and children, Marjorie and Pajay, of Royaltilles, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Marshman and son Don of Vulcan were guests at the home of E. Marshman, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Patterson accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Griffin of Lethbridge left Monday for Portland, Oregon, where they will holiday for an undetermined period.
